HEATING THE CITY BUILDINGS. — Miles Greenwood, Esq., has submitted to the Board of City Improvements a proposition to erect eight ornamented cast-iron radiators in the Council Chamber, seven in the Police Court, four in the upper hall, and eleven in the lower hall; also to refit the old boiler, and furnish the necessary amount of pipe, for $1,600. She left there when she was fourteen years old, and since then has educated herself under many difficulties, and though now but eighteen, has delivered about 400 lectures. In her coming lectures she will discuss the character and designs of Brigham Young and the general Mormon polity.

TWELFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE AMERICAN CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.—The twelfth anniversary of the American Christian Missionary Society commenced yesterday afternoon, at the Second Christian Church, on Sixth-street, Alexander Campbell, of Bethany, Va., in the Chair.

The object of the Society is the diffusion of the Gospel throughout the world, and the of the Gospel throughout the world; and the members, aware of the magnitude of their task, are prosecuting the work with an entask, are prosecuting the work with an energy deserving of success.

The attendance was very large—larger than on any previous occasion, since the organization of the Society.

A Business Committee of five, consisting of Messrs. B. C. Rice, C. H. Kellogg, J. H. Lockwood, R. Milligan and Geo. Campbell were appointed. R. M. Bishop, W. J. Pettigrew and John Shackelford were designated as a Committee on Nominations, after which the Society adjourned till evening, when an the Society adjourned till evening, when an address was delivered by Elder Alexander Campbell.

Fire or Firth-street—Heavy Damages.—
Yesterday morning, about three o'clock, a fire broke out in the drug store of Messrs. Sprague & Parrish, on the corner of Fifth and Park-streets, which consumed their ontire stock of drugs and chemicals, besides causing considerable damage to other parties, residents in the second stery of the building.

When the flames were discovered they had made such progress among the combustible fluids that it was impossible to check them, and the firemen exerted themselves principally in protecting the adjoining houses.

Four parties suffered severely by the con-principally in protecting the adjoining houses.

Four parties suffered severely by the conflagration, as follows: Sprague & Parrish lost their entire stock of drugs and medicines, valued at $2,500; insured for $1,500 by the Manhattan Company, New York. George Frazier lost articles of furniture valued at from $250 to $300, on which there was no insurance. William Cassidy suffered in the same manner to the amount of $250; without insurance. Mr. Collins, owner of the building, incurred a loss of $1,500 or $2,000, of which $1,000 was insured.

The fire, it is believed, originated in the cellar, in which was a gas-light in close proximity to a barrel of spirits and some burning-fluid.

Important Street Raftrond Bleeting in the Seventeenth Ward-The East-end on Traveling Facilities.

A meeting to take into consideration the propriety of extending the Fendleton and rith-street Railroad was held at Firemen's Hall, in the Seventeenth Ward, last night. The attendance was large, although the deplotable condition of the streets in that vipaorable condition of the streets in that vi-cinity, where gas is unknown, rendered lo-comotion difficult, if not dargerous, during the night; and it is doubtful whether a ques-tion of less importance would have induced half a dozen persons to venure beyond the place where the sidewalks are supposed to be.

Milton Glenn, Esq., was called to the Chair, and J. J. Hooper applinted Secretary.
Mr. Thorpe, Superintenent of the read, said that the Compay propised to lay down the track in the Sevententh Ward, to the postoffice, and Macadamirs the read until such time as the whole reste to Pendleton should be disposed of, and should it fall into the hands of other parties, she present owners the hands of other parties, the present owners to receive the actual cost of laying it down. A petition to that effect, besaid, had been circulated, and about half the property-holders had signed it, and seven-eighths could be obtained. The memoria had now been referred to a committee of the Council, and would be reported upon. He then offered the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That our representatives in the City Council are hereby instructed to advocate the extension of the Seventh-street Railroad to the vicinity of the Postoffice, provided that the ordinance making said extension shall vacate the same at my time that they be so directed by the City Council;

extension shall vacate the same at any time that they be so directed by the City Council; and that Council in making a grant of the route through the Seventeenth Ward to other parties, shall make it an obligation that they purchase so much of the track eastward from Washington-street, at its cash cost, from the parties constructing the same.

"Resolved, That the President and Secretary he instructed to transpit these resolved." tary be instructed to transmit these resolu-tions to our representatives in Council and publish a copy of the same in the daily papers."

Mr. Startzman stated that he had no doubt

Mr. Startzman stated that he had no doubt that the resolution came from Mr. Kilgour. It was an effort to get possession of the street without a compensation. Its effect would be to give the railroad companies a little stronger hold than they now have.

Mr. D. H. Morton said that the company had made load professions of acting only for the benefit of the people; for his part, he believed the citizens would get enough of that corporation. He thought that the idea was preposterous. Once get a railroad track down, and the people are sold. There could be no relief obtained in the Courts. If all the property-holders want the road, as stated, let it be built at once. But the company had boasted that they would go through the ward, in spite of the devil, or the people—he did not recollect which. The citizens of the ward have the advantages of the railroad, and if they are to have the right of way, let and if they are to have the right of way, let them pay for it.

Mr. Starzman thought that if a temporary grant was made, it would become perma-nent. A similar arrangement had been entered into with the Little Miami Rallroad, but it would now be impossible to enforce the contract.

the contract.

Mr. Thorpe, as a citizen, and as a railroad man, disclaimed any intention of deceiving. The company had no wish to deceive, but would act in good faith.

Mr. Hooker thought railroads a great advantage, and even a necessity. He wanted them to extend entirely through the ward, leavester or company and the contract.

however, or remain as at present. The ex-tension would take the best of the travel, tension would take the best of the travel, but leave a pertion of the people out. If the railroad company would make a liberal offer to extend the track entirely through the ward, it would receive the assent of at least three-fourths of the people.

Mr. Morton said he was opposed to street railroads all the time, but he believed the citizens of the ward were favorable to them. The roads had made one favorable to them.

The roads had made one fair proposition, and that was to bowlder and carb the entire street; but they had backed down from that. Mr. Stone opposed the resolution because it did not propose to extend the road entirely through the ward. He then offered the follewing substitute:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that we are willing for the Pendleton and Fifth-street Railroad Company to lay a double track on East Front-street, through the Seventeenth Ward, provided they grade and bowlder and keep in repair at least twenty feet of the street, agreeable to an act of Council establishing the railroad route, and advertising for bids for parties to build the same." build the same."

Mr. Thorpe said that there would be no bids as long as the people demanded certain specified conditions; the Council should be the judges. The Company was going to have more railroads; if they could not be had at the East-end, they would be obtained at the West-end; but more railroads they would have.

No parties, however, would ever bowlder the street twenty feet.

Mr. Hooker said that the condition spoken of simply was a request on the part of the citizens of the ward to relieve the companies of many of the burdens of the general ordinance, which required the railroad companies to bowlder the streets from side to aide. Mr. Welsh moved to amend by requiring the Company to bowlder the streets from curb to curb. Lost. The substitute was then adopted with loud cheers. Adjourned.

BRECKINGIDGE MEETING AT GREENWOOD HALL LAST NIGHT.—Address by Judge Bartley.—The attendance at the regular meeting of the Breckinridge and Lane Club last night, was not large, not more than 200 persons being present. Judge T. W. Bartley, in accordance with a previous notice, addressed those assembled on the political topics of the day.

those assembled on the political topics of the day.

He commensed by reviewing the platforms of all the different pelitical organizations, stating his objections to those of the Union, Republican, and Douglas parties, and gave in his unqualified adhesion to those of the National Democracy. Neither Douglas nor Breckluridge, the speaker argued, was regularly nominated, and therefore Democrats were at liberty to choose for whom they would vote. He did not refer to the subject of fusion for the purpose of defeating Lincoln, but the whole tenor of his speach evinced that he was in favor of every candievinced that he was in favor of every candidate standing upon his own merits, and that of his platform. He gave a detailed history of the Conventions of Charleston and Baltimore, and attributed all the divisions of the Democracy to the persistency with which Mr. Douglas demanded a nomination. The Judge was frequently applauded, and the whole of his speech may be regarded as an able one. CORONER'S INQUEST.—Coroner Carey yesterday held an inquest over the body of a man named Owen Wade, who was found dead in his bed-room, at the corner of Ninth-street and Broadway, yesterday morning about six o'clock. FAVORITE DISHES OF DISTINGUISHED MEN. The Philadelphia Press, in a dissertation upon dinners, says:

A man can dine, like a prince, from a single dish, with no other sauce than appetite—if needs be. Beans, and the flesh of the porcine quadruped, is a capital dish at times. George the Fourth's great treat was the blade-bone of a shoulder of mutton, grilled into a devil, and accompanied by brandy-punch and curacoa. His father used to dine three times a week from a boiled leg of mutton and turnips, with caper-sauce. Napoleon's pet dish was a roast chicken; but he committed the enormity which finally sent him to St. the enormity which finally sent him to St. Helens, of spending no more than ten minutes at his dinner, and then of going back to his work. This caused indigestion, and irritated his brain, and so led to his defeat and addicated in 1885. feat and abdication in 1814. The father of Queen Victoria delighted in fried bacon. On the day of Lord Byron's coming to age he had a feast-royal—Lucullus dining with himself—and, be has recorded, made a magnificent repast from ham and eggs, with couple of glasses of home-brewed ale.

BEUR EYES CRARACTERISTIC OF GREAT MEN.—It is said that all the Presidents of the United States, except General Harrison, had blue eyes. Among the great men of the world blue eyes appear to have been predominant; Socrates, Shakspeare, Locke, Bacon, Milton, Goethe, Franklin, Napoleon and Humbolt, all had blue eyes.

We might add that nearly all the eminent military men of the United States also have or had blue eyes; and yet we do not like them in men.

RIVER NEWS.

The Ohio opposite this port continues to decline steadily, but more slowly than on Monday, having receded, during the twenty-four hours ending last evening some seven or eight inches, leaving, according to the Water-works report, a channel-depth at this point of less than eight feet. At Pittsburg the river was, at last accounts, still falling. Yesterday was much like an April day—warm, with alternations of cloud and sunshine, and occasional sprinkles of raim, with shine, and occasional aprinkles of rain, with indications of more at the hour we write.

Business on the Landing was moderately active yesterday, with more doing than on Monday. Freights for the upper ports were still scarce, and in fair supply for the lower at previous quotations. at previous quotations.

Yesterday's Louisville Courier observes:

The river was falling fast yesterday, with scant four feet three inches water in the Caust, by the mark, at dark. During the previous twenty-four hours it had records three inches at the heast of the Fails, and nine inches at Porliand, with not over sever feet water on the bar. The weather centinues cloudy, indicating rais.

Along the Lower Othio, the last arrivals report six feet water on the shoalest bars, with a rise of two feet at Cairo up to Friday evening, and the river slowly swelling. The Ohio River rise would grobably swell the Lower Mississippi one foot, and make about seven feet water on the shoalest bars.

A letter from Cairo to the Courier, dated Monday afternoon, says:

COVINGTON NEWS.

HORRIBLE SUICIDE.—Yesterday afternoon, about two o'clock, a man named Charles McRary, about forty-five years old, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, residing on the southwest corner of Scott and Seventh-streets, committed suicide by discharging the contents of a double-barreled shot-gun in his mouth. The effect was terrible; the load passed completely through his head and out a window, breaking several panes of glass. The walls were bespattered with blood and brains in every direction, producing instant death. The causes of this rash act are these: Not long since a very promising son died in Wisconsin; afterward he lost some property in our city by failing to meet payments. Horrishe Suicide.-Yesterday afternoon in our city by failing to meet payments, Intelligence was also received that his brother in Scotland had become insane, and brother in Scotland had become insane, and requested him to return and take charge of the brother's affairs, which he had concluded to do as soon as he could satisfactorily arrange his own business. Within the past few days he became very morbid, superinduced, no doubt, by the foregoing facts. Yesterday afternoon, after his children had gone to school, he requested his wife to go and visit a friend, which she agreed to, telling him she would be back in time to prepare his supper so that he could go to prepare his supper so that he could go to work, being employed as foreman in the Glass-works. When alone, he locked the door, then committed the deed.

The Coroner held an inquest on the body and returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. He leaves a wife and four children.

Bones Found.—Yesterday the bodies of two brothers—named Jacob and Nathan Swartz, aged respectively nineteen and twenty-one years—were found in the river at the foot of Main-street. Some days since they were seen in a skiff, since which time, up to yesterday, nothing was known or heard of them. This calamity is very painful, as they were the only support of their widowed mother, who resides on Main-street, near Fifth.

Fifth. Mayon's Count.—Only one case was before Mayor Goodson yesterday, which is a slight falling off from the previous day. John Raudemaker, for being drunk and disorderly, Raudemaker, for being drunk and disorderly, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 25. In de-fault of that amount he was sent to jail to be put to work until the amount of his fine is Union Meeting.—A meeting of the friends of Bell and Everett will take place this even-ing in the Eleventh-street Market-space, Eloquent speakers will be in attendance to prove that the above-named candidates eight NEWPORT NEWS. Mysterious.—Yesterday morning at Alexandria, a supposed young man, neatly dressed, applied to the proprietor of the Alexandria and Newport stage line for passage to the latter place, saying his name was Smith, that he had a sister in Cincinnati who was about dying with consumption, and that he was penniless. The stage owner, under those circumstances, kindly gave the fairfaced young man free passage, and took no further notice of the affair. The driver, however, had his suspicions aroused, and before reaching Newport the young man was discovered to be a young woman, but she refused to answer any questions, and maintained a most stubborn silence as to the cause of her thus assuming male attire. Upon reaching town she was allowed to depart, leaving the mystery dark as ever.

A POLITICAL WEATHERCOCK . - Night be-A POLITICAL WEATHERLOOK. —Night before last, at the Breckinridge meeting held in the Court-house, Major J. R. Hallam declared his intention to support Breckinridge and Lane in the coming contest for the Presidency; alleging that the only way to defeat Lincoln, and save the Union, was to unite, and elect the Southern Democratic candidate. Who will next secure Major H.'s valuable services?

In Consideration.—There is a probability that a march game of cricket will soon be arranged, that will exceed all matches here-tofore played. It will be composed of the best players in the Western country, and if the preliminaries are arranged satisfactory to all parties, the public will have an opportunity of witnessing a finely-contested game.

ANOTHER BOYAL MARRIAGE IN PROFEST.

Befrothal of the Princess Alice Mand.—A London correspondent says a report reaches the English public through the columns of a German newspaper, stating that the Princess Alice Mand is to be publicly betrothed to Prince Louis, of Hesse Darmstadt, at Mayence, where the ceremony is to take place in the presence of her majesty, and with great pomp. The Princess was born on the 26th of April, 1843, consequently she is now in her seventeenth year. Her betrothed is a little over three-and-twenty. The Princess is greatly beloved by every body about has, though on other grounds than those which endeared her elder sister.
